

Ocean Guardians Announce Waste Free Lunch Week

The Kenwood School Ocean Guardians are sponsoring a Waste Free Lunch Week at school beginning tomorrow, April 9. We are asking all students to reduce the number of single-use items, such as plastic bags, bottles, forks, knives, and spoons, food wrappers, juice boxes, paper plates, napkins, etc. that we throw away each day after lunch. We are urging you to check your student's lunch and replace these items with reusable alternatives, such as reusable water or beverage bottles, food containers, metal cutlery, cloth napkins, and so on. (A list of companies providing these products and links to their websites can be found on the Ocean Guardian website, which can be accessed at www.kenwoodschool.org)

At the end of the week, the Ocean Guardians will be conducting separate audits of the lower (K-3) and upper (4-6) grades to see how much they have reduced their waste. Each student in the winning grades will receive a small prize.

Help us save our watershed and ocean, one reusable
item at a time!
